

DIED FOR LOVE

The title of this song was changed later to As I walked out (see Vol 2 306). This song and the following two songs were noted at the Cricketers Inn Herrongate

As I walked out one May morning
So early in the spring
I placed my back against the old garden gate
And heard my true love sing

When my true love sing my boys
To hear what she'd got to say
It's been very near three long years
Since you and I together did stay

Come now my love and sit down by me
Beneath this lofty oak
The leaves are spring and green
Its now ----- have been

I will not come and sit down by you
Nor no other young man
Since you have been courting fine
Your heart is no longer mine
